Mayor Schmidt reported on:

Minutes of Charters Towers Regional Council General Meeting held 18 April 2018

Annexure:

QLD Smart Cities Delegation to Taiwan - 24/03/18 to 31/03/18

More than 100 worldwide city leaders attended.

Discussion topics were interesting and varied & below is a snapshot of the event.

- After the first day of very high-level meetings organised by Trade Invest Queensland, there was potential of great value in the new relationships.
- I would suggest that we were the smallest invited council in terms of population, however the land mass calculation at twice the size of Taiwan was not lost on those present and our per head per hectare became the topic of animated conversation.
- There were a great number of opportunities identified for high value agriculture and contacts made, which could be very useful, but we will require higher government acceptance of the notion that we have enormous potential and that all we need is water and the ability to clear land to produce the high value crops that the soil has been proven to support.
- Transport: Given my background in transport I was interested in the technology put forward in that area but I remain sceptical of any suggestion that the rural and regional areas of Queensland will ever allow use of trucks that allow for limited driver input.
- Education: was a topic that was also of great interest given that we have a most advanced Distance Education campus in the Towers. A part of my role was also to put our community forward as a hub for excellence in education and to let the attendees see and understand the possibilities for their students and look at the possibility of some exchange programmes with other countries.
- Health: was discussed at length and particularly tele health which allows for a patient to be remotely monitored; where internet and WIFI are available; for many chronic diseases simply by wearing a device, your vital signs can be monitored by a nurse at another location and doctors are called to discuss and diagnose irregularities. There is also a device that allows many tests to be carried out remotely using only 6 drops of blood available with a simple prick to the finger.
- I was interested in the idea that increased urban density does not have to equate to slum or ghettos and that it is possible to formulate accommodation for various requirements from scratch that are liveable and sustainable and with all the mod cons. There was discussion by one US mayor about villages designed specifically for certain ethnic and access challenged groups and how well they work at integrating those groups into the community whilst giving them an opportunity for cultural and physical support along with allowing the youth and elders to live and interact appropriately. I was impressed with the way it all came together.
